

What technologies do we develop?

What are the implications of these technologies?